

ArrowMark Partners Adds Senior SRT Professional to Investment Team

September 14th, 2022 - ArrowMark Partners announced today that Alexis De Vrieze has joined the firm as a senior member of ArrowMark's investment team. Based in ArrowMark's London office, Alexis will assist the team with the sourcing, structuring, and oversight of significant risk transfer ("SRT") investments, also known as regulatory capital relief transactions. His experience in the asset class will expand the diversity of the firm's sourcing networks and the depth of the firm's fundamental research capabilities to capitalize on the unique risk and return profile available in the SRT market.

Alexis brings over 15 years of knowledge and industry experience to the team. Prior to joining ArrowMark, he spent almost 13 years in credit and SRT structuring at Citigroup. Alexis led a group responsible for managing and overseeing the origination, sourcing, structuring, marketing, and placement of SRT transactions for both Citi and third-party clients. Prior to Citi, Alexis spent two years at Goldman Sachs working with Exotic Credit Derivatives.

"We are thrilled to welcome Alexis to the team. The relationships and structuring expertise he has developed throughout his career will strongly complement the skillset of the existing ArrowMark team. Alexis' arrival reflects the firm's continued commitment and momentum in the asset class, as well as a methodical approach to building a team to deliver the best investment outcomes for our clients," said David Corkins, Co-Founding ArrowMark Partner.

ArrowMark has been one of the most active and consistent investors in the SRT market since the emergence of the asset class. Over the last 11 years, ArrowMark has invested in 80 distinct regulatory capital relief transactions representing approximately $5.9bn of investments.
